Supporting Child Development: The Unseen Gifts of Dance

NESD&T Teaching Staff values ongoing education and the pursuit of excellence in our field. We follow and collaborate with industry leaders and occasionally come across a perfect articulation of our thoughts; we'd like to share the following post by Rhee Gold because it sums up why we're so passionate about teaching dance to your children:

“Unseen Gifts of Dance” by Rhee Gold

As parents, it's easy to focus on what we can see – our child's smile as they dance, their excitement after mastering a new step, or their pride on performance day. But the true power of dance lies in the skills that go beyond the movement, shaping them into confident, resilient and committed individuals for life.

When your child walks into a dance studio, they're not just learning the movement – they're learning how to show up, give their best and face challenges head-on. That sense of discipline and dedication becomes a part of who they are. It's the same drive that helps them prepare for a college interview with poise and determination. It's the confidence they'll draw on when tackling life's big moments.

Through dance, they learn what commitment really means: working hard, staying consistent, and pushing through even when things get tough. These are the life skills that shape future success – in the classroom, in their careers, and in every aspect of their lives.

So while we celebrate every performance, remember that dance is giving your child so much more. It's preparing them for the world with confidence, grace, and a work ethic that will last a lifetime.

A Message From Our Booster Club

We'd like to thank those of you who supported our last fundraiser by purchasing Pies, Cookie Dough or other direct ship goods. If you ordered the fresh and frozen pies or cookie dough those will be available for pick-up THIS FRIDAY, November 8th, at the back door of the studio from 5:30 to 6:30 (if you ordered multiples we encourage you to bring a strong bag or box to carry them to your car). If you have any questions please email nesdboosterclub@gmail.com.

Our next fundraising opportunity provides another locally made good many of us purchase annually - holiday wreaths! Our dancers would love to help you decorate for the holiday season and are proud to be selling balsam, cedar and white pine wreaths made right here in New Hampshire! Follow this link to order and select either "local pick-up" to get it right here at the studio on Friday, November 22nd (stop by for a cup of Cocoa and have your wreath in time for Thanksgiving!) or "direct ship" to have it shipped to your home after that:

The Booster Club at NESD&T is a group of dedicated parents who collectively fundraise to support the dancers in our Performing Company. The 501(c)3 not for profit organization raises funds to help offset the cost of additional performance opportunities and participation in dance competitions throughout New England for all members. If you'd like to learn more about the Performing Company at NESD&T please contact Kelly O'Brien at nesdcompanymanager@gmail.com to learn more about the audition process for next season.
